SUNDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1878.
NO EXCUSE FOR REPUDIATION.

There are some bitter partisans in Tennessee, who are thoroughly dishonest, but who have enough self-respect left to attempt to hide their dishonesty, who urge repudiation of Tennessee bonds because, as they say, they were issued under the "Brownlow regime." Of course there is nothing in this but low demagogism and blarney. If all they say about the "Brownlow bonds" were true, their validity has been recognized time and again by Democratic Legislatures. If they were issued illegally, why didn't the partisan Democratic Constitutional Convention provide for their repudiation? Why was their validity recognized by the Legislature of 1865? Why were they included in the operations of the Funding bill of 1873? This is no excuse, and when we hear it offered as such we hardly know whether most to admire the knavery or the foolishness of him who offers it.

Again, suppose that what they claim is true. According to Gov. Porter, all the "Brownlow bonds" now out amount to only a little more than $3,000,000, or a little more than twelve per cent. of the whole. The creditors propose to relinquish forty per cent. of their claims which will cover the amount of the "Brownlow bonds" multiplied by three. So it will be seen there is nothing whatever in this. Deduct all these bonds, and the State debt amounts to $21,000,000 in round numbers. Deduct the amount offered by the creditors of the State, and the remainder is only about $15,000,000.

The truth is, when men make up their minds to become knaves, they generally succeed, and though they may offer excuses and explanations, they are knaves still.

"THE VICES OF THE DAY."

A few days ago a number of clergymen and laymen met in the lecture room of the McKendree Church, in Nashville, to take into consideration "the vices of the day—how they shall be regulated and suppressed." At the first meeting there was some pretty sharp shooting at large game. Rev. Dr. A. J. Baird, the leading Cumberland Presbyterian minister in the State, alluded, in an uncompromising way, to ex-Gov. John C. Brown, who, it will be remembered, vetoed the Local Option law passed by the legislature. A good deal was said at the time about the part taken by Col. John C. Burch in convincing Gov. Brown of the unconstitutionality of that bill. Dr. Baird revived that talk and said some pointed things, as reported by a correspondent of the Banner, Rev. Dr. Elliott. This brought out a card from Col. Burch, who denied that he used any improper means to convince the Governor or that he received a big fee for his constitutional argument, to which the veto was popularly attributed.

Last Thursday night another meeting was held, and a committee appointed for that purpose reported a summary of the laws of Tennessee regarding gaming and tipping. This same committee presented a memorial to be presented to the General Assembly, praying for the limitation of drinking saloons, so that in the larger cities, such as Memphis and Nashville, not more than ten or twelve such houses should be licensed; that all such places should be closed on the Sabbath day; to guard against evasion by providing for the proper situation of such saloons at a distance from places of amusement and business, so that they may be observed by the police and public, and for a more stringent law on gaming. In connection with this, Local Option was discussed and the Moffett bill-punch.

A variety of opinions was expressed. We would rejoice to see the time come when drunkenness is suppressed, but the restriction of the number of saloons to be kept in a city does not occur to us as being calculated to do it. Men who want whisky will get it, whether the number of places where it is sold in a city are restricted to ten or one hundred. It might result in suppressing a few low dram shops, that are a disgrace to any city or community in which they may be situated. But it would result in the establishment of a monopoly, and would not, in our opinion, remedy the evil complained of. To be effective the remedies proposed must be practicable. The remedy here proposed does not appear practicable and will probably fail. The first thing to be done is to get public opinion right. That being done, it is an easy thing to shape legislation.

EDITORIAL CHANGE.

By reference to a card published elsewhere, it will be seen that Col. John M. Fleming, of Knoxville, and H. H. Ingersoll, Esq., late of Greenville, have entered into a law partnership in this city. This involves the voluntary retirement of Col. Fleming from the editorial chair of the Knoxville Tribune, a position he has filled with universally conceded ability. His valedictory will appear in the Tribune of this morning. It is unnecessary for us to say that during the past ten years Col. Fleming has struck us many journalistic blows, which we have parried or returned to the best of our ability. But while we have been antagonistic in the various exciting conflicts through which we have passed in that somewhat eventful period, we note his relinquishment of the editorial chair with feelings of regret. His fame as a journalist extends throughout the State and the country, and nothing that we could say would add anything to it. Our best wishes for substantial success follow him to his new field of labor. In that he is no novice. Before he entered the field of journalism he was a successful and able lawyer, with a large practice. His ability, large acquaintance and skill as a lawyer will bring him a large practice now.

Col. Fleming's partner, Mr. H. H. Ingersoll, is one of the best lawyers in the State. He is industrious, studious, scholarly and devoted to his profession. He is yet a young man, in the prime of life and can hardly fail to be successful. It is a strong firm, and the two gentlemen composing it have our best wishes for their unbounded success.

The report promulgated from Washington a few days ago to the effect that Ben. Butler's friends were all to be turned out of the Treasury Department is false. No such insane policy has been adopted by the Administration. If a Department clerk does his duty, it makes no difference if he was recommended by Ben. Butler.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The difference between "Chivalry" and "pure cussedness" is very slight. Senator Sargent is confident that the Republicans will elect three out of four Congressmen in California next year. Senator Thurman having stated to a Washington correspondent that he still adheres to his financial views, an exchange pertinently inquired, "which set of financial views?" The cheering declaration of several Democratic Congressmen, who have arrived in Washington, is made that the coming session will be devoted to business rather than buncombe. Ben. Hill, the "war horse of Troupe," proposes to address the Democrats of Georgia on the importance of organization. Organize against Alex. H. Stephens, we presume.

The difference between an Independent Democrat and a thoroughbred Democrat, is about the same as between a hungry crow and one whose stomach is well filled. The first makes the most noise, but the other is sleeker and shinier.

Congressman J. D. Cox, of Ohio, says, "If the Republicans are looking about for a representative party man for the Presidency in 1880, who embodies the best elements of character, trustworthiness and ability, they have in the natural order of succession, a man who ought to be acceptable—Vice President Wheeler."

The voters of Congressman Wadell's district, in North Carolina having decided that they prefer another man and a Republican to represent them, he disavows any intention to make a struggle for the seat. And the Democratic papers chime in a laudation of his magnanimity.

Another Valuable Hint.

Few, if any, proprietary medicines in America have conferred so great a boon on society as "Dr. C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills,"—hence imitations are being submitted for extra profit by many druggists. But as the Dr.'s name is spelt Lane, and the directions wrapped inside are printed on water marked paper, while the Pills are of a darkish hue—otherwise you will be duped with trash.

THE KNOXVILLE CHRONICLE FOR 1879.

Subscribes for a Good, Reliable News paper.

The DAILY CHRONICLE, and WEEKLY WHIG AND CHRONICLE, will be kept up during the year 1879 to their usual high standard. By enterprise, accuracy, and close attention to the wants of our readers, we hope to merit a continuation of the liberal patronage heretofore extended these journals.

Nearly nine years ago, when there was not a Republican daily in the State, and only two or three in the South, we commenced the publication of the CHRONICLE. In all these years we have battled for Republican principles, and see no reason to change our course now. Hence we shall continue to publish a truthful, reliable Republican journal, not the organ of any man or clique, but the outspoken and fearless advocate of principles, measures and men, best calculated to promote the welfare of the country and the Republican party.

We shall make unceasing war against all men who espouse the cause of repudiation in Tennessee. Against those who are willing to destroy their State for a little brief authority, and who for office are willing to dishonor and disgrace the Commonwealth, we shall cry aloud and spare not.

As a newspaper our publications shall not be excelled in the State. In addition to our telegraphic dispatches from all parts of the world, our readers shall have the benefit of correspondence and every other means through which reliable information is obtained.

Each number of the paper will contain selections made with special reference to the home circle. We will continue to avoid everything calculated to contaminate, and will publish a paper that may be taken without question within the sacred precincts of the family circle.

Our market reports shall have close attention, and be made entirely correct and reliable. We will endeavor to make our agricultural columns worth more to farmers than our subscription price.

We call upon all persons interested in the publication of our independent, fearless, reliable Republican journal to come to our aid and assist in extending the circulation of the DAILY CHRONICLE and WEEKLY WHIG AND CHRONICLE.

In view of the financial pressure upon the country and the general reduction of values, we have decided to reduce the price of the WEEKLY WHIG AND CHRONICLE to suit the times. In the future we will send our weekly paper to subscribers on the following
